Design by
Peter Maly

Description

Peter Maly chose to revisit the model Prao 25 years after its creation in 1985, reproducing all its functionalities but rewriting it in the vocabulary of 2010. The name of this model is a homage to the TED (Technology Entertainment Design) conference, which also began in 1985, and is an annual meeting dedicated 'to the power of ideas to change the world'.

To integrate into interiors of all sizes, the range has been extended by means of a 3-seat settee W 231 and a chaise longue W 150. The possibility of positioning the back cushions and arm cushions, whether articulated or not, anywhere around the metal frame increases the number of configurations achievable, along with the number of possible corner compositions. The total height of each item (base + back/arm cushions) is 76 cm.
